"If I had an office like your's, ps. I wouldn't want to go to Saratogs, or anywhere else. I understand now why you have insisted on staying in town this Summer for the first time in twenty years." There's a very big grain of truth in the young lady's remarks. Why should a tenant in the Pulitzer Building go out of town for the Summer, unless indeed to avoid the daily stream of profitable clients or eus than at any resort in the country.
